

Original instrumentation

On the way...here's a great shot of the Ercoupe after take-off enroute to This Old Plane. Though this particular Ercoupe was completely airworthy, the owner opted for several improvements, including a new instrument panel, radios, nosegear, electrical system, basically... "the works"...all with the intention of upgrading the Ercoupe without completely sacrificing its originality. Rather than a new paint scheme at this time, the Ercoupe will remain polished with decals only. The Ercoupe has also been upgraded to a Model 415D.

In progress

Blank panel

Final instrumentation

The final product...

Reassembled for test flight